

Translating research into practice – How confident are allied health clinicians?

*Barrimore, Sally¹, *Cameron, Ashley^{2,3}, Young, Adrienne⁴, Hickman, Ingrid^{5,6}, Campbell, Katrina^{1,6}

¹Allied Health Services, Metro North Hospital & Health Service, ²Clinical Support Services, Metro South Hospital & Health Service,

³Department of Speech Pathology, Princess Alexandra Hospital, ⁴Department of Nutrition & Dietetics, Royal Brisbane & Women's Hospital,

⁵Mater Research Institute – University of Queensland, ⁶Department of Nutrition & Dietetics, Princess Alexandra Hospital

Proudly supported by Queensland Health's

Clinical Excellence
Division

Queensland
Government

○ Research translation

- Multi-step process → widespread practice change
- Grounded in best available evidence

○ Allied Health – Translating Research into Practice (AH-TRIP)

- Build awareness, skills, confidence
- Increase available tools, resources & support

○ AH-TRIP Needs Assessment

- Capture AH professionals current knowledge, skills & experiences in TRIP
- Inform development of statewide initiative

TRIP TRAINING

Interested in participating in TRIP training

90%

Prior TRIP training

18%

TRIP PD

Top 3 preferred styles for receiving education & training in TRIP

Face:Face
(workshop, seminar, small groups)

Departmental TRIP
(PD/in-service)

Online TRIP Resources
(webinar, tutorial, podcast)

AH Professionals - Needs Assessment

n = 374

Metro North - 162, Metro South - 212

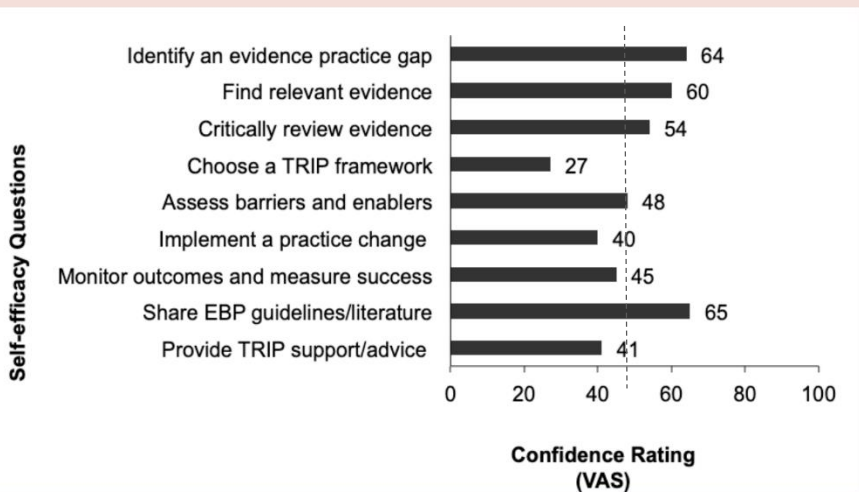

11.3% response rate

Average
Respondent

HP4
Full-time
Clinical load
9 - 11 years experience

TRIP SKILLS

Low-moderate confidence for TRIP steps

Confidence rating for AH professionals on VAS.

SUMMARY

- Low confidence in TRIP, implementation & evaluation
- High interest in TRIP skill development & training
- Flexible delivery & training options
- AH-TRIP one strategy to assist with capacity building
 - End-user designed → relevant front-line clinical staff
- Improving translation directly impacts health services
 - Effective service/delivery
 - Strengthens system

